Bug Report HT-357

Skill statistics do not get recalculated properly

Description

We need to investigate following report from our customer, and fix the problem if it is confirmed.

"Recently, we have deleted several well paid, Expert level Project Managers (using the Employee from Delete button) from our application. We have expected that this would impact statistics of the Project Management skill at the Expert level (mostly the avg and maximum salary), but nothing happened. Are we doing something the wrong way?"

This is suspicious. The statistics for skill should be recalculated whenever anything changes regarding to an employee with the given skill. For example, if you add new payment to the employee, and save the employee form, etc.